DEAR READERS

For several generations, my family has been working in the field of decoration and wood. In 1945 my father and his brothers started an activity of manufacturing decorative and technical boards, which are currently TABLEROS FOLGADO , a benchmark company in the sector. In the 50s, after the change of taste and style that was noticeable in the market, my father alone created a new product line called GALI, a furniture sales company in which me acquired great experience of the sector dealing with different sections being the director of the company for 7 years.

Although my training has been legal and business, my studies in arts and crafts and the fondness for painting, sculpture and photography made me want to develop my most creative project. There has already been a previous experience in creating Black graphics, an original work publishing company with different artists, a project that I abandoned for family reasons. In this way, and with all these references, VIVETI was finally born in end of the year 2000. Ten years later will start V2Contract

The image features a modern, abstract lighting fixture made of copper plates. The fixture consists of several rectangular plates of varying sizes and orientations, some overlapping. A central square plate has two small circular cutouts. The copper has a warm, reddish-brown patina. The background is a dark, heavily textured wall with horizontal and diagonal streaks of lighter brown and grey, suggesting a rough or painted surface. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows.

Project starting from the design provided by the client to the complete execution, going through the manufacture of all the elements

1. MEETING & PLAN BRIEFING

This consists of meeting with the client to discuss the needs and requirements of their interior design project. The meeting will have a briefing session where the customers preferences, vision and desired outcomes for the project will be discussed and understood. The plan briefing will outline the scope of the project, schedule, budget and any specific details that need to be considered.

2. QUOTE, BASED ON TECHNICAL SPECS

After the plan meeting and briefing, a quote is prepared based on what has been agreed on the bases of the project. This is a detailed analysis of the costs associated with the design, development, manufacture and installation of the interior design elements. The quotation would take into account the bespoke nature of the pieces, materials used, fitting costs and any other relevant factors.

3. STARTING THE PRODUCTION

Once the quotation has been accepted by the customer , the production phase begins. The V2CONTRACT sets out the terms and conditions of the project, including deadlines, payment

SEAN COCHRANE STUDIO & VIVETI

La Imprenta restaurant in Ibiza, Spain From the heart of stylish Paris

Located in a beautiful neoclassical palace dating back to 1898 full of history and where years ago the old printing press of the Diario de Ibiza, from which it takes its name, was located. The place also debuts a spectacular and innovative vintage-style decoration in which materials such as brass, wood and velvets predominate, complemented by fabulous Art Deco furniture that give La Imprenta an artistic and bohemian atmosphere full of personality.

The project has drawn upon the traditional coffee-coloured palette of a Parisian brasserie, with a selection of black wood panelling and window furniture, translucent dark onyx bar surfaces, cream wall paint and touches of gilt on the mirrors and balustrades.

Everywhere high-quality wallpapers and sumptuous golden, velvet furnishings complete the feeling of high class Parisian chic. The opulent restrooms are furnished with a huge gilt-edged mirror and elegant swan neck taps. For a discreet party of diners there is long, oval dining table upstairs, which can be curtained off for complete privacy.
